NATIONAL TOM SAWYER DAYS

National Tom Sawyer Days is a yearly event which is held in the American town of Hannibal, Missouri. Hannibal is the hometown of Mark TWAIN, he was inspired with the fictional town of St. Petersburg, in which TWAIN placed Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn.

NATIONAL TOM SAWYER DAYS

Every July, the town of Hannibal celebrates National Tom Sawyer days. Both children and adults take part in white-washing and frog-jumping contests and other interesting events. Local kids compete to become the official Tom and Becky.
